BOYS CALLED IN DRAFT.

Roy Milnes Holds the Red Registry No. 258. Canvas Reveals But Few Claiming Exemption.

When Secretary of War Baker drew from among the list of registry numbers 258, this number was at once flashed all over the United States and there was but one county that was not effected. One small unit in Montana had less than that many regis tered-citizens and-thus-escaped-thefirst draft number.

In Crawford county it was found that Roy Milnes, son of Mrs. O. Milnes, proprietor of the Burton hotel, was the honored one. Other numbers folowed in rapid succession and soon other local boys were eurolled in the

Bumper Crops

}

The whole country is making a determined effort to increase the crop yield this summer. There is a waiting market for every pound of it, and this will add millions to the incomes of the farmers.

Factories will be working day and night to turn out the enormous supplies required by our own government and our allies. Millions and millions againwill go into the pockets of the people.

Some of this money will be banked, but MUCH OF IT WILL BE SPENT. It will be a fight between the local dealer, the city merchant and the mail order man to see WHO GETS IT?

What are YOU doing, Mr. Local Merchant, toward getting this immense volume of business? Are you telling the people of the articles you have to sell, and of the advantages of buying at home? Or are you going to let the city merchant and the mail order man do the advertising AND GET MOST OF THE BUSINESS?

It is squarely up to you! This is a newspaper.

NORWAY.

There is no nation on the continent of Europe which has endured more, and that more more heroliully, than the kingdom of Norway. With a long coast line practically entirely unde-fended and intensely vulnerable, with the full force of the German may anchored only a few hours distant from her cosets, and with a not too friendly neighbor, possessing an army much stronger than her own, situated on the other side of her land border; the position of Norway has been one of great difficulty and of the greatest perplexity. Had she flung herself hito the war on the side of the utiles, she would have been of little help to them, while she would have made them responsible for the protection of her coastline, which she could not defend for herself. From the allies, of course. Norway knew she had nothing to fear. There could not be any possible temp-tation to them to attack her in any way. Her carrying trade was, of course, as a neutral, at their disposal, just as it would have been at the disposat of Germany, had Germany been able to avail herself of it. Therefore the little Scandinavian kingdom shut its teeth, and beld on with a courage and a tenacity beyond all praise. Even when the submarine zone was fixed. on the 1st of February last, and the undersea boats went out on their work of devastation, the Norwegian captains held on. In spite of every danger, in spite of enormous losses, their ships went up and down the seas performing services to the allies, that the alrecognize. SAVING COAL IN HOUSEHOLD

Illinois Tolis Hom it May Be Effected. If every householder and owner of of Illinois would use reasonable care in the purchase of his fuel and in the operation of his plant, the saving would be equivalent to 4,500,000 tons of coal. According to a circular just issued by the engineering experiment station of the University of Illinois such a saving is easily within the range of practical attainment. Applied to the entire United States, intelligent attention in the operation of house heaters would save more than 60,000,000 tons of coal. The University of Illinois has dis- eration.

Well Protected. EXPECT EXEMPTION OF MANY

What we call "death" is, after all, merely the culmination, premature or natural, of the dying that is going on within us each minuta. Every strike, every thought we think, is accompanied by the death of a certain amount of muscular or nervous tissue. In health the "death" is followed by ac life—the tissue is renewed. There is no more pain in the death of the whole physical organism than there is in the death of one cell.—London Ar-MW GTS.

Reason Why Authorities Have Called So Many to the Colors is Fully Explained.

Washington, July 21.—The drawing washington, July 22.—The travining of lots is the climax of the nation's effort to build up a great military force on the principle of universal service. After the muster role is made, only the simpler tasks of examination and exemption, mobilisation and training will remain. For this work but in the steps taken heretofore the government has been forced to make a way of its own.

Aiready President Wilson formally has ordered to the colors 687,000 of the men for whom lots have been drawn and most of them will be in training by mid-September at 16 cantonments under construction throughout the country. To provide that many, physically fit and without any incum-brance calling for exemption the war department will summon for examinathe drawing to stand at the head of the muster roll.

If more are needed to provide a needucta of 687,000 soldiers, those stand ing next in order will be summoned. So, too, will the choice pass on down the line when future increments are ordered to the colors by the president Military men estimate that about every other man summoned will be exemp ed, and on that basis the 10,000,000 whose order of liability has been defamily table is invariably kept stand-termined should yield close to 5,000,- ing on the family Bible.

As petrol cannot be fought today for commercial purposes at under 48 to 58 cents a gallon, it will be seen how great is the economy effected. So far as the alterations readered necessary to the engine of a motor vehicle are concerned, the only additional expenditure is about $3.60, and the gas bag container for the storing of the vapor costs $75. Thus, for the expenditure of $78.00, an ordinary petrol with a motor vehicle of any description. using motor vehicle of any description can be converted into a gas driven one, and the driving expenses reduced enor mgusiy.

After getting a few more details Crow rushed back to the office and wrote a funny story about the arrest of the bird. He was congratulating himself on landing a story on the first page, an hour or so after the paper got on the streets, when the telephone bell-rang and he had to listen to a torrent of abuse from an frate lady at the other end of the line. It developed that she was Mrs. Parrot, and she had been arrested for using abusive language, but she bitterly re-sented being written up as a bird.

The Danlah system of education as used in the Virgin islands differed from the American plan in that the schools were in session virtually the year round, re-ligious training was required, the teachers had longer hours and less pay and stress was laid on those subjects that pertained to Europe. The form of religion was that of the Moravian church. This will not be continued new that the United States owns the islands. European history and geogra-phy will not be emphasized as they were, and more emphasis will be laid on reading, writing and arithme There are no high schools on the islands, although the residents made numerous petitions to the Danish goverument for them. This lack of se ondary education was responsible for a great deal of dissatisfaction with the government of Denmark. Between 80 and 90 per cent of the inhabitants of the Virgin islands are said to be black. The rest are white.

Some trees had to be felled last spring in the park of Skodsborg sanstorium, near Copenhagen. That part of the park was shut off for the time being. But still one of the pensioners Miss Eugenie Schmidt, who was fifty-six years old, had managed to get in-side the ropes. Just as the tree was about to fall she was noticed, and the workmen shouted to her. But she was unable to get away, and the tree fell on her, killing her instantly.

The city government of Copenhagen bought 40,000 bogs last spring and saited thein down, so that the people, of the city may have something to volved about one million dollars.

SWEDEN. King Gustaf of Sweden, who is now

ofty-nine, is interesting, among other things, as occupying the only throne in Europe that connects us with the Namileonic traditions. He is the fifth in scent of the Bernadottes, who have ruled over Sweden since 1818. The story of how the son of a country law yer became one of Napoleon's marils, and afterward king of Scandina via, is one of the romances of history. Bernadotte enlisted as a private in the Royal Marines in 1780, and the revolution brought to him, as to others, promotion and fame on all the battlefields of Europe. And when the Swedes desired that Karl XIII should adopt an heir to fill the throne of the Vasas, they turned to the man who had death of his father, King Oscar. Ownhead section of Berlin society.

An official report just made to the American government showing the extent to which Sweden is furnishing supplies to Germany reveals that the ly amusing. I mentioned some of their Teutonic powers are receiving enormous quantities of materials that go directly into the manufacture of mu-nitions. Iron-ore shipments from Sweden to Germany, the report declares have reached a total of 9,000,000 tons in the last two years, all of it of the high grade required in production of fine steel. This, it is declared, reprean amount equal to --Sweden's entire pre-war export. In the first quarter of the present year, it is set forth. Sweden imported from the United States 16,000 tons of pig iron. while selling a great quantity of her own product to Germany. Her pigown product to Germany in two years, it tons. In-addition to this it is asserted she has shipped to Germany 15,000 tons of ferro-silicon and ferro-manes. nese, used for the purpose of hardening shells, together with large quantities of copper, sinc, manganese, sulphur and other ores. Germany, the report declares, has obtained from Sweden in two years fully 200,000 tons of wood pulp for use as a basis for cellulose, used instead of cotton for the manufacture of high explosives. It is claimed Germany also has obtained from Sweden large quantities of ball bearings for use in the manufacture of vehicles and submarines. value of these shipments, the report declares, is at least $75,000,000.

Sweden is having bread riots, and some of the people are having a hard time getting enough to eat, according to a letter written to Phil Levine, 495 St. Poter street, St. Paul, by brother, David Levine, at Gottenborg. The letter says in part: "We are hav ing trouble here on account of having nothing to ent-shortage of potatoes all kinds and not too much of anything else. Allowed about a five-coat loaf of bread a day. We have had a bread riot here. About twenty five persons were badly hurt, but the trouble has passed for the present."

Germany apparently has opened submarine warfare on Swedish fishing boats. Advices showed that four such vanuels had been sunk in one-day by gunfire by German U-boats outside the Serman blockade sone. The Swedish crews hardly escaped to their boats.

I replied that I had visited once or twice at the Stulerstrasse and that the company I had met there were certainnames, among them that of young Von Head Hussars, Van Heynitz of the Konigs jager, a well-known man about town, his friend Winterfeld, together with a number of ladies of the very ultru go-ahead set. At this his highness seemed highly interested.

"She certainly seems a very curious gether, old person," he laughed. "Fancies that Who she's but twenty-five, and actually had the audacity to dance at Bismarck-Bohlen's."

New Arrival at Court.

Judge my great surprise when, about six weeks later, Frau von Alvensieben, the pretty grand maitresse of the court of the crown princess, stopped me in one of the corridors of the Marmor palace and, drawing me aside, whisnered: "I have news for you, my dea

The crown prince, too, soon became on friendly terms with her, and many times I saw them chatting together as though exchanging confidences. Why?

"I can't make it out," declared Von Behr, the chamberlain du service, to me one day two months later. "The old woman has the most complete con-trol over her highness. Because she was averse to the journey we are not going to Norway this year. Besides, since her appointment, she has succeeded in plotting the dismissal of the Countess von Scheet-Plessen.

A Conversation in Italian. One evening I went to the counters' house in the Stulerstrasse to a dinner party, at which there were present the rown prince, Admiral von Spee from Kiel and Von Ilberg, the emperor's docor, together with the old Trachenberg, who held the honorary and out-of-date office of grand cupbearer to the emperor, and the eternal "Uncle" Zeppelin. With us were a number of ladies, including their serene highnesses, the Princess von Radolin and the Duchess von Ratibor, both ladies of the court of the kaiser-in, and several others of the ultraamort set.

After the meal there was a small dance, and about midnight, after waltzing with a pretty girl, the daughter of the Baron von Heintze-Weissen-rode, we strolled together into the fine winter garden, with its high palms, its plashing fountains and its cunningsecreted electric lights. Two persons were approaching

"Do you know Italian?"

"Alast no," was her reply. I did not answer, for I had afready recognized the voices as those of our hostess and the crown arince.

Next moment, however, my compar ion's quick ears caught that unmistakable squeaky voice.

"Certo, contessa;" replied the crown prince, who speaks Italian extremely "I quite foresco the peril and the force of your argument."

"How shall we act?" asked the old woman. "It remains for you to devise a plan. At any moment matters may approach a crisis. One can never ac count for the confidences exchanged by those who love each other. And, remember. Krahi is in love."

There seemed to be no record of him anywhere.

An Unexpected Caller, In October I accompanied his imperial highness to Ballenstedt, the eautiful schloss in the Harz mountains. Here once or twice each season the crown prince's habit was to invite a few of his most intimate chums to shoot in the forests of Stecklenberg and the Lauenberg, and along that curious sandstone ridge known as the Teufelsmauer, or "Devil's Wall."

The guns consisted of five wellsnown officers from Berlin, together with Doctor Zeising, the master eral of forests, and Lieutenant General von Oertzen, the fat old inspector general of cavalry. As usual, we all

"Oh, yes Krahl! I recollect. Yes, I will see him here." Next moment'the person whom I had heard discussed so strangely in the ittle old woman's beautiful winter gar den was ushered in.

He was dark-haired, aged about twenty-eight, I judged, with small, brewd black eyes, dressed in a well cut suit of gray country tweeds, and but for his German name, I should have taken him for an English tour ist, one of those familiar objects of the Harz in peace time.

"Come in, Karl!" exclaimed the crown prince, affably, as he grasped his visitor's hand. His highness did not often offer his manicured hand to others, and at this I was greatly sur-prised. "The forester did not know you, of course. Well, I am very pleased to see you. Have you come straigh

"Quite right," laughed his highne who, turning to me, said: "Heltzen-dorff, will you tell the others to go on -that I am detained for an hour on state business, and—and that I will oin them as soon as possible. I will find you in the woods, on the left of the Quedlinburg road, before one comes to the Wurmint. Apologize for me, but the delay is inevitable. I have a conference with Herr Krahl."

The Crown Prince Disappears.

While his highness remained behind at the forester's house to chat alone with the mysterious Karl Krahl, we went out among the birds and had some excellent sport. Yet the sight of the young man, whom I had long endeavored in vain to trace, caused me considerable wonderment. Who was that young fellow in whom the little old countess seemed to take such deep and peculiar interest? What was his ce that she, with the crown prince, should concect, as it seemed to me, such a plot as that I had partly overbeard?

That there was a woman in the case I felt assured, but her name had not been mentioned and I had no suspicion of whom it could be. I realized however, that something important must be in progress, otherwise his would never have given up the best afternoon to consult with that stranger in gray tweeds.

The foresters and heaters had come I searched various directories, lists with us, as the crown prince had, at of persons engaged in the government his own request, been left alone with his mysterious visitor.

After a couple of short heats we a rived at the spot on the forest road to Quedlinburg, a most romantic and picturesque gorge, where his highness had arranged to meet us, and there we sat down and waited.

A full half-hour had passed, yet the head forester, who was keeping a look-out along the road, did not signal his highness' approach. "I wonder what can have detained him?" remarked Von Oertzen, the in-spector general of cavalry. I explained that a strange vount

Truth to tell, I did not like the situation. His highness' disappearance was now known to fifty or so persons, beaters and others, and I feared lest it might get into the Berlin papers.

Then Knof drove me alone back to returning in secret there, had left me n written message in his room. He had done that on one occasion before

To this leading question I maintained sphinxlike silence. That the little woman who had so unexpectedly become a lady-in-waiting was playing some desperate double game I felt sure, but its exact import was still an

A Startling Discovery. Suddenly, not far away, a horn was blown, followed by loud shouts. Quickly we approached the snot, and Eckhardt and myself, as we came up looked upon a strange scene. Close to the trunk of a great beech tree lay the form of the crown prince, hatless, outstretched upon his face.

Instantly I bent, tore open his shooting jacket, and to my great relief found that his heart was still beating He was, however, quite unconscious though there seemed no sign of struggle. As he had left his hat and gun in the house, it seemed that he had gone forth only for a moment And yet we were quite a mile from the rester's house!

The countess had thrown herself upon her knees and stroked his brow ten-derly when I announced that he was still living. By her actions I saw that she was filled by some bitter self-re-

With the lanterns shining around him-surely a weird and remarkable scene which would, if described by the journalists, have caused a great sensation in Europe-the crown prince was brought slowly back to con ness, until at last he sat up, dazed and wondering. His first words to me were: "That fellow! Where is he? That -that glass globe!"

An hour later he was comfortably in bed in the great old-world room in the castle, attended by a local doctor-upon whom I set the seal of official sience-and before dawn he had com-"Well, because I think it is your own pletely recovered.

Yet, even to me, he declared that he what had occurred.

I went out quickly, and I well, I don't know what happened," he told me soon after dawn, as he lay in bed. Strangely enough, he made no mention of the man, Karl Krahl. Later on he summoned the Countess von Kienitz, and for twenty minutes or so he had an animated discussion with her. Being outside the room, however, I was unable to hear distinctly. Well, 1 succeeded, by bribes and threats, in hushing up the whole affair and keeping it out of the papers, while by those who knew of the incident it was soon forgotten.

Karl Krahl Again.

I suppose it must have been fully three months later when one evening, having taken some documents over to the emperor for signature at the Berlin schloss, I returned to the prince's private room in the palace, when, to my great surprise, I found the man Karl Krahl seated there. He looked very pale and worn, quite unlike the rather athletic figure he presented at the forester's house. "If you still refuse to tell me the truth, then I shall take my own measures to find out—severe measures! So I give you full warning," the crown prince was declaring angrily, as I entered so unexpectedly.

I did not withdraw, pretending not to notice the presence of a visitor, therefore his highness himself beckoned the young man, who followed him down the corridor to another room.

The whole affair was most puzzling. What had happened on that afternoon in the Harz mountains I could not at all imagine. By what means had his highness been rendered unconscious, and what part could the little old countess have played in the curious

In about half an hour the crown prince returned in a palpably bad humor and, flinging himself into his chair, wrote a long letter, which he addressed to Countess von Kienitz, This he sealed carefully and ordered me to take it at once to the Stulerstrasse and deliver it to her personálly.

Entomology, that branch of zoology which treats of insects, has a much closer relation to war problems than most people realize, and the bureau of entomology has asked that pamphlets, circulars, posters, leaflets, etc., pertaining to war phases of the field of science be sent to its office in Washington, so that they can be assembled and classified for future reference, says Popular Mechanics Mugazine.

Among the questions that properly come under this head and have a bearing on the war are those pertaining to the attacks of insects on crops, the prevention of mosquitoes, insects to many publications will not possess mawill at least have a historic interest.

Directions for Registered Men .Given Step by Step.

ALL CLAIMS UNDER OATH

Industrial Needs and Dependents Are Chief Basis on Which Draft Hay Be Avoided-Make Claims in Person.

Washington.-Provost Marshai General Crowder has issued complete instructions for the men registered under the selective conscription law. So that exeryone will understand just what is to be done, he gives the directions, step by step, as follows:
1. LOCAL BOARDS—In every county in the United States and for every city of over 80,000 there are one or more local exemption boards. Each of such boards is in charge of the regis tration cards of persons registered in the area, over which the board has jurisdiction, and has jurisdiction of all claims for exemption, except tho based on industrial grounds. FIND OUT WHAT BOARD HAS YOUR CARD AND WHERE THE OFFICE

OF THAT BOARD IS.

2. DISTRICT BOARDS—In every federal judicial district there are one or more district boards, having appellate jurisdiction over a number of local boards and having original jurisdiction of claims for exemption on in dustrial grounds. IF YOU INTEND TO MAKE A CLAIM ON INDUS-TRIAL GROUNDS, INCLUDING AG-RICULTURE LEARN WHAT DIS-TRICT BOARD TO APPLY TO.

Meaning of Numbers. A. RED INK SERIAL NUMBERS

Every board has numbered the cards in its jurisdiction with red ink-in-a series running from 1 to the number representing the total number of cards in its jurisdiction. Lists show ing the names of persons in the jurisnumber of each are open to inspection at the office of each board. INSPECT THE LIST AND INFORM YOUR-SELF OF YOUR RED INK SERIAL NUMBER.

4 ORDER OF LIABILITY-These red ink numbers are to be drawn by to determine the order in which registered persons are to be called by the farious local boards. As soon as the order in which these red ink num bers are drawn will be published in the press, and will be posted at the office of each local board. GO TO-YOUR LOCAL BOARD AND FIND OUT THE ORDER IN WHICH YOU STAND FOR CALL.

5. As soon as quotas are assigned to each state and each board, each board will call upon persons, whose cards are in its jurisdiction instructing them to present themselves for examination call will be posted at the office of the local board and the papers will be requested to print it. A notice will also be mailed to you, but the posting of the list at the office of the board will be deemed sufficient notice to charge you with the duty of presenting yourself. The law therefore makes it your duty to inform yourself when convenience, but If the letter nevel an excuse.

-Watch-the lists at the office of your board and see when you are called for examination.

6. Physical examination—you must report for physical examination on the day named in your call. If you are found physically disquali-

The Chantangus offers four lectures in the five day sention that every one in the community thould make a special affort to bear. Even if you are one of those who have said they "don't like lectures" you will say when you have heard these four that they were worth every minute spent and every cent it cost to hear them.

They will come in the following order: Dr. Robert Farker Riles, Andre Tridon and Albert Edward Wiggam on the at three evenings, Caveny on the third afternoon, and Wallace Bruce Amabary on the last afternoon.

Dr. Miles landed in New York as a youth with 50 cents in his pocket. He has made two tours of the world's greatest newspaper reporters and writers, and he know how to tell of his experiences interestingly and with dramatic effect. "Tallow Dipt" is his lecture subject. In this lacture he describes the more intimate life of a few of the notable men he has met in his world travels—men he has come to know at close range. The

TRIDON

A French scholar, was correspondent and author who has made an exhaustive study of conditions in Mexico. He has been over its vari deserts, and he has lived in its cities. In fact, to be brief, he word into Mexico and lived the life of a Mexican so that he might get an imide, unbiased, accurate view of its political and social conditions. While there he supplied news and comment from Mexico for the Outloot, the Independent sumerous other magazines as well as newspapers. He has only recently returned from a trip into Mexico, where he want to get material to bring his lectures up to the minute. His lecture subject is "An Inside View of Mexico."

WIGGAM

Dr. Wiggam is known the country over as an authority on heredity. He is a member of the largest scientific socia-ties in this country and England, and the things he discusses are presented authoritatively. He believes the subject of heredity is one that will solve the problem of making the race more efficient. It is constructive, informing, and it is worth while. His subject is "Heredity and Human Progress."

AMSBARY

Dr. Amsbary has been known for years as an interpreter of plays and shift stories. He is a master genius in the literary world. In his "Post Sage of Lockerbic Street" he will give the interesting personal reminiscences of James Whitcomb Biley, together with an interpretation of his simple songs of every day, filled with the cluster charm of rural life. And, in addition, there is Franklin Caveny, chalk talker and clay modeler.

These are only five attractions out of a combination of ten or more that make up the five days' program. Music will have an important place in the Chautauqua, and there are also the purely entertainment features.

The season tickets, if bought now of the local Chautauqua committee, are $1.50. If bought at the gate they will be $1.75. Tickets for boys and girls of from six to fourteen years are 75 cents if bought new, $1 if bought at the gate. This brings the cest down to a few cents a number. Admissions at the gate total $3.75. What you need is a season ticket. What the committee wants is to have you buy season tickets rather than pay at the gate. So get in line, and wall make it the one big event of the year.

DRAFTED MEN MAY STILL EN-

Before Being Called for Examination By Local Board. In response to a telegraphic inquiry rom the Army Recruiting station, Grand Rapids. Mich., the following telegram was received from the Adjutaut General of the War department: 'After a registered person has been called for military service by his local board and directed to appear for physical examination, under-section fifteen, 'Rules and Regulations prescribed by the president for Local and District board,' he ceases to be eligible for voluntary enlistment."

This decision does not prevent man from voluntarily enlisting, provided he does so before he has been called by his local board for military service and physical examination. After he has been called, his application to enlist-will not be considered by Recruiting officers, and each applicant must be prepared to state, under oath, whether or not he has received such call up to the time he applies for enlistment.

During the months of February, March and April, as compiled from reports of all Army recruiting stations, thruout the United States, there' were 115,138 applicants for enlistment, and of this number 56,564 were accepted as qualified, or an average of taken by catarrh sufferers for the past cepted as qualified, or an average of about one out of every two applicants were found qualified. Formerly, only about one out of five were found qualified, but on account of recent orders from the War department, waiving the previous requirements that an applicant should be able to read and write English, and also reducing the height limit to five feet one inch, and weight to 110 pounds, the percentage of qualified men has been considerably increased.

Chautauqua audiences and talks as he works. His sketches are revelation of beauty and caricature. In his land-scape scenes he shows all the beauties of a bleak winter and all the glories of a summer's day. As a cartoonist his work has received the strongest commendation. The Galveston News said of his work, "Caveny is greater with the chalk than Thomas Nast, the man who destroyed with his pictures 'Boss Tweed.'" He draws these carlcatures with slightning-like rapidity and they cover a wide range. He will be here on the third day of the Chau-
